Ed Henderson has more than twenty-five years of experience representing clients in the construction industry. His clients include public and private owners, heavy construction contractors engaged in public works construction, building contractors on private developments, and design professionals. He has counseled clients during all phases of the construction process from the preparation and negotiation of contracts to dispute avoidance and resolution. His litigation experience includes mediation, arbitration, trials before state and federal courts, appeals to New York State appellate courts and the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, service as a party-appointed arbitrator, and as a member of a Disputes Review Board.

Mr. Henderson is a civil engineer. Before attending law school, he worked with one of the country's leading tunnel contractors, Maclean-Grove Company, building subway tunnels for the New York City Transit Authority and the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority.

Experience Highlights

Arbitration and Litigation for a New York City developer *

Represented a New York City developer in connection with disputes arising on a residential condominium project, including arbitration against the general contractor, subcontractor mechanic's lien claims, and claims against the general contractor and its surety. The firm obtained a multi-million dollar award at arbitration against the general contractor, including an award of all attorneys' fees and costs, and then sought to collect the entire award from the general contractor's surety in litigation in federal court. After the court held that the surety could be held liable for the award of attorneys' fees in the arbitration, the case was successfully mediated to settlement on terms considered very favorable by our client.

Disputes Review Board

Service as a member of the Disputes Review Board for the 86th Street Station portion of the Second Avenue subway.

Litigation for international building contractor *

Represented international building contractor in litigation arising out of a $30 million renovation project in New York City, including prosecution and defense of breach of contract, fraud and RICO claims in an action in federal court and defense of a related mortgage foreclosure action.

Litigation for an international design-builder of light rail transit systems *

Represented an international design-builder of light rail transit systems in connection with an accident. Counseled design-builder during investigation into the accident and advised on related contract and coverage issues. Defended design-builder in litigation of claims arising from the accident, and procured the dismissal of a wrongful death action.

Insurance litigation for recognized leader in apartment development

Represented the owner and developer of a 400-unit apartment complex on Long Island in litigation seeking insurance coverage for losses resulting from water intrusion and entrapment.

Insurance coverage litigation for Formosa Plastics Corporation for explosion and fire loss

The firm served as lead counsel for Formosa Plastics Corporation in litigation regarding coverage for property damage and other losses suffered at one of its operating plants as a result of an explosion and fire. We obtained a multimillion dollar settlement for our client.

Litigation for a large international construction company *

Represented a large international construction company in a claim by a project lender (a consortium of six foreign banks) under a guarantee of performance of a contract for the construction of a $60 million waste-to-energy plant in North Carolina.

Arbitrator for a technology company *

Served as a party-appointed arbitrator for a technology company in an American Arbitration Association arbitration involving alleged fraud and breach of a high-technology licensing agreement.

Litigation for large building contractor *

Represented a large building contractor in disputes arising out of a multimillion dollar deconstruction project in lower Manhattan.

Mortgage foreclosure proceeding and bankruptcy sale involving rights of paper manufacturer as creditor *

Represented paper manufacturer as a creditor in a mortgage foreclosure proceeding arising out the bankruptcy sale of a paper plant. Resolved pursuant to court order.

Litigation for international building contractor *

Represented international building contractor and its surety in a multi-party $30 million litigation arising out of a failed condominium project and the termination of the contractor, culminating in a 60-day bench trial and an appeal in New York State court.
