Fourth Annual Duff & Phelps IP Value Summit

Patent litigation in America twisted and turned dramatically in 2017—venue was limited in U.S. District Court, constitutionality was questioned for Patent Trial & Appeal Board validity challenges, and the International Trade Commission continued its resurgence. Our distinguished panel will move through these three U.S. forums, discussing trends in the context of new Lex Machina data and global developments, and their impact on business and litigation strategy in technology disputes.
